

Joseph Hogarth

---

Staff Instructor

Joe Hogarth has been in law enforcement for 20 years, is retired as a patrol sergeant in South Central Pennsylvania and currently works for one of Pennsylvania's municipal police academies as a training coordinator and range master.

Prior to 2009, and for 13 years, Joe served on the Cumberland County Special Response Team in the capacity of operator, sniper, firearms instructor, assistant team leader, team leader, assistant team commander and training coordinator.

Joe is certified by Pennsylvania's Standards and Training Commission as a General Instructor, Defensive Tactics, Firearms and Physical Fitness. He has developed police academy curriculum for the Commonwealth as well as serving on a Use of Force curriculum development team for mandatory in-service training.

Joe has taught Active Shooter response for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the South Central Terrorism Task Force for hundreds of officers over the past 15 years and additional duties included serving as a field training officer, advisor regarding use of force, reporting and policy and the coordinator for the county's critical incident response team. He holds firearms certifications from the Pennsylvania State Police and the NRA for pistol, shotgun and select fire weapons.