

Sean McAdams

Staff Instructor

Sean McAdams has 16 years of experience in Law Enforcement and was certified in 2010 by NYS DCJS as a firearms instructor, chemical agent instructor, and a general topics instructor. Sean is currently assigned as a Weapons Training Officer responsible for all local in-service training, both LE and civilian. His previous assignments included mounted patrol, fire and safety, high risk transportation, drug urinalysis, and response teams. Sean is NYS Firefighter 1 qualified and serves on his agencies fire response team as well as volunteering for his local fire dept.

Sean is a certified instructor for CPR, AED, and first aid, as well as a NYS Homeland Security Tactical Emergency Critical Care Instructor. He is a certified armorer in several weapon systems such as Glock pistols, Smith & Wesson revolvers, Remington shotguns, and Colt rifles.

Sean has attended numerous conferences that include both student level and instructor level training such as NLEFIA's inaugural Advanced Firearms Instructor certification, IALEFI's Master Instructor Development, Glock's Instructor workshop, NYS Homeland Security's Active Shooter Response, and NYSDHS AR15/M4 Operator course, just to name a few.

Sean realized early in his career that going outside his agency would be necessary to receive the most up to date training. He continually seeks out new training as a student...learning, testing, and evaluating new ideas and techniques. Only after the ideas and techniques have been validated are they brought to his students.
