

Todd Fletcher

Staff Instructor

Todd Fletcher is currently a full-time police officer in Central Oregon. He has over 20 years of law enforcement experience. Todd is an empty hand control tactics, Taser, collapsible baton, pepper spray, Use of Force, and Firearms Instructor. He is also an AR-15/M-16/M-4, Glock, and Smith & Wesson M&P Pistol armorer.

Todd is a proven training leader in local and international organizations offering expertise in classroom presentations, live-fire range, and use of force training. He presents firearms, control tactics, and integrated use of force training at the basic, advanced, and instructor development levels. He has presented training at various regional, national, and international conferences for law enforcement, private security, and military personnel. He has provided training and use of force consultation services to law enforcement agencies, private security companies, and armed citizens. He has testified as an expert witness in cases involving police training and use of force. Additionally, he has trained officers, private security, military personnel, and armed citizens from coast to coast.

Todd has written numerous firearms training, building search training, and active shooter training articles for a variety of professional publications. In order to improve his instructor and shooting skills, he has attended most of the large, internationally known firearms schools and has trained with the best firearms instructors in the world.

Known for creating professional and dynamic training environments that engage students in a values-based training environment for shooters and instructors, Todd strives to align the principles of service, integrity, teamwork, and excellence into all training and leadership opportunities. Todd seeks to provide a safe, comfortable, and challenging training environment that allows his students the opportunity to develop their skills while developing an understanding of what it takes to be successful.
